Canadian Industry Builds

Canadian Industry Builds

"The growth potentialities of the Canadian economy continue to inspire new and far-reaching plans for the exploitation of Canada's abundant natural resources. The challenge of these new horizons, the venturesome spirit that now seems to pervade the Canadian economic scene, and the rapidity of the country's postwar economic expansion, all suggest that Canada stands at the threshold of a new era of economic progress."

New Horizons

IN CANADIAN INDUSTRY

Methinks I see in my mind a noble and puissant nation rousing herself like a strong man after sleep. — "Areopagitica," John Milton, 1644.

TREMENDOUS distances and almost infinite variety of scenery and climate characterize this land of Canada. Nearly twice the area of all Europe, it is a country of contrasts, of towering mountains and flat prairies, of deep forests and vast lakes, of fertile farm lands and forbidding barrens. Its southernmost extremity is approximately on a parallel with Rome, Italy, and in the north it touches the North Pole; from St. John's, Newfoundland, in the east to Victoria, British Columbia, in the west by air is a distance of 3569 miles, about the same as the air mileage between London and New York.

The knitting together of these extremes of distance and topography into one harmonious and prosperous nation is abundant testimony to the energy and resourcefulness of the Canadian people, and in these qualities, as much as in the bountiful resources with which nature has endowed her, lie the roots of the economic strength of Canada. The economic panorama of fisheries, forestry, agriculture and mining has now been shaped into an economy which is predominantly industrial. Despite a relatively small population of 14½ million people, only two-thirds of one per cent of the world's population, Canada ranks sixth among the industrial nations of the earth.

The developments that are now taking place, ever lifting and widening the industrial horizons of this country, are outlined in the following pages where each province has its own story to tell of achievements and prospects which truly stir the imagination. Capital expenditures in Canada are now absorbing more than one-fifth of the gross national production, and although foreign investments, mostly of United States origin, are an important factor in this development, the bulk of it—about 85 per cent of the total—is being financed by Canadians from their own savings. The nature of these developments is as noteworthy for its diversity as for its extent, ranging all the way from basic industry as exemplified in the expansion of steel-making facilities, to the most advanced industrial complex of jet-engine manufacture and the industrial application of atomic energy. Some of the principal expansion projects announced during 1952 and new manufacturing firms appearing in the Canadian Trade Index for the first time in this 1953 edition are listed beginning on pages 530 and 538. Illustrating the attainments of some of the leading manufacturers are the 43 pages of display advertising in this Section.

In order to evaluate in their proper background the far-reaching developments described in these pages it is important that the ground work and preparation which preceded them should not be overlooked. The major stimuli to industrial development in Canada were the opening up of the West by transcontinental railways and the sudden and pressing necessity to turn out the materials and highly technical engines of war for the Canadian forces and their allies during two world wars. However, there was also a very significant growth in the range and extent of Canada's manufacturing facilities during the twenty years between the wars.

The pace of the Canadian industrial advance during the past decade has been spectacular, but it has none of the temporary and artificial quality often associated with the term "boom", which suggests inflation and excessive speculation ending inevitably in a "bust". The new discoveries of oil, iron ore, and non-ferrous metals each lead on to new supporting developments involving the provision of power, transportation, and all the products and services required by whole new town sites, and there are still great frontiers of natural resources which have not yet been fully explored. Perhaps an indication of what lies ahead for industrial Canada is the assessment of hydro-electric power potential. Presently recorded water power resources of Canada represent a feasible turbine installation of 66 million horse-power. The installed capacity is 14 million horse-power, or less than 22 per cent of available resources, but equal to 991 horse-power per thousand of population.

For foreign firms who wish to come to Canada and become a part of this flood tide of Canadian fortunes there is ready access through many organizations to vital information on all aspects of the problem of plant location. An account of government services at the Federal and provincial levels is given on pages 471 and 473, while every assistance is also available from municipal industrial commissioners in all major centres, the industrial development offices of the chartered banks, railway companies and utilities, and many others.

The growth of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has closely paralleled, if not preceded, the expansion of the country's industry and trade. Founded in 1871, its current membership of nearly 7,000 is representative of industries in more than 600 communities from coast to coast, giving evidence of the widening geographical distribution of Canadian industry. The guiding principles of the Association are simple and straightforward—to promote the interests of Canada's manufacturers and their employees, to encourage the growth, development, and expansion of manufacturing in Canada, and by means of enlightened policies and specialized services, to further the interests of manufacturers and of Canadian exporters generally.

Manufacturing Production

The estimated manufacturing production in 1952, approaching $17 billion, is more than double in value the output of 1945. Among the leading products were pulp and paper, meat packing, non-ferrous metal products, chemicals, motor vehicles and parts, petroleum products, lumber and wood products, primary iron and steel, railway rolling stock, clothing and textile products, rubber goods, agricultural machinery and implements, electrical apparatus and machinery, furniture, sheet metal products and industrial machinery.

While it is difficult to foretell with any degree of certainty what the future may hold, there is as yet no indication of any significant decrease in the rate of growth of Canadian industry and perhaps the best guide to the future is the past. It is with justifiable confidence in the sound footings established during the past years and with a steady faith in the future of Canada as an industrial nation that Canadian industry builds.

Grateful acknowledgement is made to the officials of the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce, the Department of Resources and Development, and the various provincial governments who contributed the special articles following. The Editor also expresses thanks to the contributors of the coloured illustrations and photographs appearing in this section.

GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE

in industrial development

Department of Trade and Commerce

THE Federal Government plays a leading role in the overall programme of industrial development in Canada, and the section of the Federal Government that is particularly concerned with such matters is the Industrial Development Division of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

The Industrial Development Division provides information and advice in the field of industrial development and is charged with the co-ordination of all related federal activities. Through close contact with other federal government departments, with provincial and municipal governments, and with private development organizations, the Industrial Development Division can and does ensure that enquiring businessmen are well informed on all matters that are of interest to them.

Both Canadian and foreign businessmen find the existence and functions of the Division to be of particular interest when they turn to the matter of plant establishment in Canada. The officers of the Industrial Development Division can provide up-to-date information on such basic matters as immigration, taxation, incorporation, and a variety of other subjects. They can assist in estimating the Canadian demand for a particular product, and can indicate the labour, power, raw materials and factory space available for its production in this country.

When the interested industrialist has progressed to the stage where a personal appraisal of production, marketing and competitive conditions becomes necessary, the Industrial Development Division can introduce him to the organizations that will be of most assistance to him.

Through close liaison with provincial, municipal and private development agencies, the Division can help him from the time of his initial investigation to the final location and operation of his plant.

Industrial Contacts

In another of its functions, the Industrial Development Division brings together foreign businessmen and Canadian manufacturers that are interested in taking on new production items or rounding out the line which they now manufacture. The Industrial Development Bulletin, issued monthly and circulated among organizations concerned with industrial expansion, gives publicity to the proposals of foreign businessmen who wish to have their products manufactured by Canadian firms for the Canadian market.

The Industrial Development Division can and does act as a clearing house for the problems of the industrialist, in connection with federal legislation and regulation. In respect of all these matters the Division will give guidance as to those regulations which may apply and will provide direction so that the industrialist can obtain full information.

The Industrial Development Division is a service organization. As such, the Division is always ready to assist, in co-operation with other organizations concerned with industrial development, in solving the variety of problems which today confront Canadian and foreign businessmen. The Division may be approached directly at its office in Ottawa, or contact may be effected indirectly through any of the Canadian Government Trade Commissioners stationed in 39 countries.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS'

Trade and Industry Council

The Provincial Governments' Trade and Industry Council was founded in 1949 by official representatives of all the provincial government departments concerned with the development of trade and industry in their respective provinces.

The aims of the Council are to provide a medium for interprovincial consultation and co-operation on matters pertaining to trade and industrial development; to supply traders and manufacturers from Canada and abroad with a nationwide provincial service in this field and to promote greater understanding throughout Canada of the economic conditions affecting the development of each of the provinces and of all Canada.

The members of the Council work closely with the Federal Government, chiefly through the Department of Trade and Commerce, the Canadian chartered banks, the transcontinental railways and interested associations. Annual conferences provide the members with an opportunity to review the progress achieved, discuss plans for the future, establish practices and formulate recommendations, which will further the aims of the Council and promote the economic development of Canada.

BRITISH

dollar boom

TIME AFTER TIME over the last two years, British Columbia has made the headlines in the national press with the phenomenal story of its current industrial boom, now representing more than a billion dollars of capital investment.

It seems almost repetitious to list here the successive chapters in a drama of discovery and development which, today, is still echoing around the world.

But there is a side to this industrial epic which may have gone unnoticed in the swiftness of its telling, an aspect of the whole astonishing tale which deserves and may not have received its due appreciation.

British Columbia's resounding success story has come not from the creation or expansion of one basic industry, not from one section of the Province, not from one group of its people—the elements which have combined to make billion-dollar news of B.C.'s development over the past two years have come from all over the Province, from basic industries and secondary industries, from big business and small business, and from a wide range of its diverse peoples.

A hydro-powered aluminum industry in the making at Kitimat near Prince Rupert tops the list with a cost-estimate of $500,000,000, but huge capital outlay is also begun or projected in more than a score of other developments.

Plants of The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd., at Trail, B.C. In the foreground are the metallurgical plants which produce practically all of Canada's refined lead, over 70% of its refined zinc and some 50% of its refined silver. On a higher river bench in the background is Cominco's fertilizer plant.

They include trans-Province oil and gas pipelines; pulp and paper expansion at Nanaimo, New Westminster, Prince George, Prince Rupert, Castlegar, Port Alice, Woodfibre, Nelson, Howe Sound, Ocean Falls; new or enlarged newsprint production at Elk Falls, Powell River; plywood and veneer plants or additions at Victoria, Youbou, Vancouver, Port Alberni, Sooke; sawmills and lumber plants at Vancouver, Castlegar; oil refineries in the Vancouver area and expansion at Ioco; stepped-up mining activity at Salmo, Galena Bay, Trail, Kimberley, Tahtsa Lake; tungsten smelting at Port Coquitlam; Province-wide expansion of the British Columbia Telephone Co.; power development at Wahleach Lake, Campbell River, Sechelt; a huge dam in the Greater Vancouver Water District; airport improvements and an electric furnace at Vancouver; a herring reduction plant at Prince Rupert and a number of other smaller developments.

The whole of the Province is sharing or preparing to share in British Columbia's billion-dollar boom. The Lower Mainland and other established centres of industrial activity are buzzing with the sound of progress, and the vast potential of the central and northern areas of the Province is on the point of being brought into its own along newly-constructed avenues of promise like the John Hart Highway from Prince George to Dawson Creek and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway now extended from Quesnel to Prince George.

The past year has seen British Columbia lengthening its already giant strides toward a new era in its economic history. The bright outlook for its future is encouraging bolder hopes and stronger determination in the busy people of Canada's fastest-growing Province.

Part of the Kitimat, B.C., project which will double Conoco's output of Aluminum is this construction scene of the Aluminum Co. of Canada, Ltd., camp for the power development at Kemano in northern British Columbia.

Resources to work

IN 1947 Alberta was thrown suddenly into the limelight with the discovery of oil near Leduc. For several years then the headlines told of one oil discovery after another. The public was interested in the dozens of independent oil companies that were organized overnight.

However, this was just the first phase in the rapid industrialization of the province. With so much newly discovered oil and natural gas available the problems of finding suitable markets arose. A pipeline was laid to carry oil from Edmonton to the Great Lakes. Another "Big Inch" is in the process of construction from Edmonton to the Pacific Coast.

The effect of the oil and natural gas discoveries has been felt in a more direct way by Alberta and that effect is the arrival of industries which require large quantities of our nearby natural resources for their manufacturing processes. The majority of these have to date been chemical industries producing basic raw materials.

Evidence that Mohammed must not only go to the mountain but that it is more profitable is the following list of major companies which have or are being established in the Province.

Chemicals Important New Industry

Canadian Industries Limited started operations in May of this year at its explosive plant near Calgary. The availability of nitrogen from the nearby Consolidated Mining and Smelting plant and the new and expanding market for explosives in Alberta were factors considered in its siting. This plant produces all commercial grades of dynamite, gelatins and semi-gelatins and is the first on the North American Continent to use the continuous "Biazzi" nitration process developed in Switzerland.

Canadian Industries Limited also started construction this year on a plant at Edmonton for the manufacture of polythene, a plastic widely used in the electrical, pharmaceutical, packaging and other industries.

The $13,000,000 plant will use large quantities of our natural resources. It is estimated that daily requirements will be approximately 10 million cubic feet of natural gas, 8 million gallons of water and 35,000 K.W. of electricity.

Another large chemical company to start construction is the Canadian Chemical Co. Ltd. It is expected that production of cellulose acetate flake will commence sometime in 1953. The 25 million pounds of flake will be used to manufacture staple fibre and filament yarn. Other products will include: pentaerythritol (P.E.), synthetic methanol and isobutanol, insecticides, drugs, solvents, formaldehyde, fibres, explosives, plastics, anti-freeze, resins, lacquers and glycerine.

Other developments in the chemical field include the construction of a chlorine plant at Duvernay by the Western Chemicals Ltd. This plant is designed to produce about 22 tons of caustic soda and chlorine daily.

WEALTH

ALBERTA'S UNFOLDING

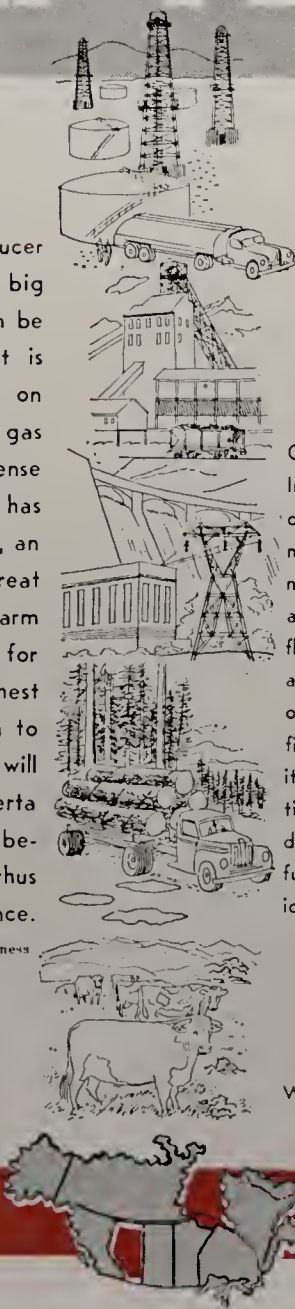

When a country has fully arrived as a producer of oil, it absorbs casually the news of big developments. Alberta, on that basis, can be said to have arrived. Indeed, so great is Alberta's prospect for future greatness on the score of vast petroleum and natural gas wealth that we are apt to forget the immense corollary wealth of the province. Alberta has Canada's greatest known deposits of coal, an abundance of water and electric power, great tracts of timber and vast areas of rich farm land. A good case could be made out for the thesis that Alberta is Canada's richest province. Certainly there is good reason to believe that industrial developments will greatly swell Alberta's population. Alberta can support a density of population far beyond that demonstrated to be possible, thus far, in any other Western Canadian province.

Canada uses large quantities of sulphur in various industries including newsprint manufacturing and to date has had to import this item. In order to take advantage of the existing market two companies have completed plants for the recovery of sulphur in commercial quantities from natural gas.

One, the Shell Oil Co. erected a $500,000 Gas Absorption and Sulphur Recovery plant at Jumping Pound and is expected to produce about 9,000 tons annually.

The other, the Royalite Oil Co. Sulphur Recovery plant at Turner Valley is expected to produce approximately the same amount as the plant at Jumping Pound.

While the chemical industries predominated in the establishment of large plants other large industries have also located in Alberta so that they would be near large quantities of natural gas.

Developments Based on Gas and Oil

An example is the nickel refinery owned by Sherritt-Gordon Gold Mines Ltd. at Fort Saskatchewan. Construction of this plant, which will cost $17,000,000, was started in June of 1952 and is expected to be in operation in 1954. Its estimated consumption of 7 million cubic feet of natural gas daily will be required largely for the production of ammonia used in the new leaching process. The operation will be very economical even though the ore concentrates must be transported 868 miles from Lynn Lake, Manitoba.

Annual production of this plant is expected to amount to about 17 million pounds of nickel, 1,500 tons of copper sulphide, 300,000 pounds of refined cobalt and 70,000 tons of ammonium sulphate fertilizer.

The $10,000,000 McColl-Frontenac Oil Refinery at Edmonton was officially opened in June. This refinery has a capacity of 5,500 barrels a day and is the latest of three refineries put in operation over the last year or so. The others are the Imperial Oil and the British American Oil Refineries.

In addition to these larger installations many smaller plants have commenced operations or construction. The majority of these are dependent on the large prime manufacturers already mentioned for their raw materials or are supplying demands created by the increase in construction in the province and the additional services required by other industries.

Numerous other concerns have also been established to meet the growing demand for everything from recreational facilities to power plants.

Future Depends on Wise Use of Resources

It is always difficult to predict the trends in industrial development, the laws of supply and demand being what they are, but, it can safely be forecast that oil and natural gas development will continue to forge ahead under the impetus of new pipelines. Secondary manufacturing industries based upon the products of the large chemical companies will probably be limited by the demands of the more or less local markets until such time as the prairie population increases to supply both a substantial market and labour force or until outside markets are more easily accessible.

In any event nature has given us the materials with which to work, it is ours now to use the industry and intelligence at our command to transpose them into useful articles of commerce.

yield new harvest

IN SPITE of the fact that oil, natural gas, uranium and potash have spotlighted news of Saskatchewan for the past year, agriculture is still the backbone of the economy. Last year Saskatchewan harvested the biggest crop in her history, with total production of cereal grains at approximately 700 million bushels. Of this amount 435 million bushels were top grade wheat and 258 million bushels were coarse grains. It has been estimated that cash income from farm products amounted to $\frac{3}{4}$ of a billion dollars in 1952. In terms of index of physical volume of agricultural production, the production of agricultural products in Saskatchewan has increased from 129.3 in 1945 to an estimated 250 in 1952. At the same time the farm unit has continued to increase in size while the value of machinery on the province's farms has increased from 143 to 526 millions of dollars in the past ten years. Over the same period of time farm indebtedness has decreased by about 90 million dollars.

Gross value of production for the province as a whole has increased, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, from 568 million dollars in 1945 to an estimated $1,200,000,000 in 1952. Moving hand in hand with this increased value of production has been an increase in capital investment and a steady increase in per capita earnings.

Mineral Production Doubled

This general improvement in the economic position of the province is a reflection not only of the greater productivity of the soil but is a reflection of the increased production of minerals, greater industrialization and the greater expenditures currently being made in the oil, natural gas, uranium and potash fields.

Gross value of mineral production has more than doubled since 1945, with greatest increase since 1949. Over the past three years expenditures on the search for and development of oil and natural gas have risen from 8 million dollars in 1950 to an estimated 30 to 40 million dollars in 1952.

The year 1952 has seen the highest rate of discovery in the province's petroleum history. In the first six months of 1952, 11 indicated oil discoveries and 5 gas discoveries were made and there were 100 well completions, of which number 40 were wildcats, 42 field development wells and 18 extension ventures. By the end of October two new oil fields had been discovered, 6 areas where a field was indicated and 11 good shows had been made. The finds are widely separated, having been made in the eastern, in the south, south-west, west-central and the northern part of the province.

In natural gas during the past year the outstanding discovery was the Brock-Coleville fields with others being made at Gull Lake, Govenlock, Elrose and Driver. Estimates of gas reserves currently being given range upward to 400 billion cu. ft. There is little doubt that next year will see the city of Saskatoon supplied with natural gas and the first sections of a provincial natural gas distribution system laid.

In the precambrian area of the province it is estimated that upwards of 8 million dollars will be spent this year in the prospecting for, and development of uranium ores. The coming into production of the 500 ton uranium ore processing mill in the Beaverlodge Area will again place Canada among the top uranium producers of the world. At least a dozen companies are actively developing their properties and in addition an undisclosed number are carrying out extensive exploration work. The entire precambrian area of the province has shown stepped up activity. At the end of November this year over 3400 mining claims had been recorded.

Considerable progress has been made in the development of potash resources. Two companies, Western Potash Company and the Potash Company of America are both carrying out drilling operations to delineate the more productive potash beds in the province.

Great Forest Reserves

A further important development in proving up the natural resources in the province is that pertaining to forestry. In August of last year the Department of Natural Resources released the first forest inventory figures on the provincial forest. The figures released by this Department show that within 20,000 sq. miles of the provincial forest there is 5.4 billion cu. ft. of timber. It has further been stated that 9,000 sq. mi. of the inventoried area carries approximately 75 per cent of volume of timber inventoried. The Department of Natural Resources states that there is nearly 45 million cords of pulpwood within economic range, available for extraction.

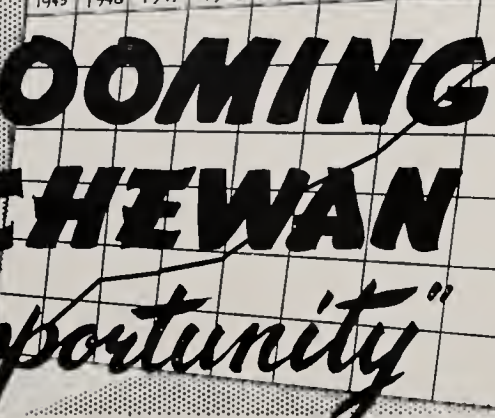

New Secondary Industries Important

The keynote during the past year to Saskatchewan's progress in the industrial field was one of expansion of existing industries and the establishment of a number of secondary industries. In the petroleum refining industries the three largest firms in the province have announced expansion programs which will involve an expenditure of about 22 million dollars. In the food processing field the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Flour Mills in Saskatoon doubled its capacity and in the same city, Western Foods Limited expanded to make possible the manufacture of margarine. In the small industries field new factories were established to produce plywood, boxes, furniture, prefabricated buildings, concrete products, leather, animal foods, foundry products, fish filleting and canning plants, seed and feed mills together with the establishment of a number of service industries to serve the province's growing urban population.

For Saskatchewan, 1952 was a banner year with new records being set in nearly every phase of production and development. However, present indications are that every record set in 1952 with the exception of field crops, will be broken in 1953.

Diverse Products

for world markets

ONE of the most significant developments in the province of Manitoba in recent years has been the tremendous advances in industry that have taken place. Along with the rest of Canada this province is in the midst of a period of great industrial development. The value of manufacturing production in 1952 reached an estimated $630 million, more than double the production of ten years ago and the industry today employs over 44,000 workers. The province now ranks fourth in Canada in the value of manufacturing production.

Winnipeg is the sixth largest industrial centre in the country and surpassed only by Vancouver in the West. Besides being an important industrial centre, the city has become of increasing importance as a distributive and wholesale centre.

Able and Creative Labor Force

Manitoba's labor force has proved that it has ability and creativeness equal to that to be found anywhere else in the nation. Not only are our manufacturers able to compete favorably with other provinces of Canada and the States but in recent years they have become leaders in many fields. Some examples of this include a Winnipeg firm which makes one of the best mechanical taxi meters in the world sold not only in Canada but throughout the world. The scintellometer designed and produced in the province has already achieved a world-wide market. A well known Canadian car and tractor battery manufacturing plant which has its headquarters in Winnipeg produces a larger variety and selection of batteries than any other battery manufacturer in Canada. The largest pump manufacturer in Western Canada is located in the province.

Manitoba's record of labor management relations is unsurpassed in Canada. In 1951 time lost by strikes and lockouts in Manitoba was only 0.027 per cent of the total time lost by strikes and lockouts in Canada.

Manitoba's wealth of natural resources has contributed in no small way to the recent industrial development. In 1952 all of the larger industries locating in the province utilized raw material supplied by the existing resources of the province. Manitoba manufacturers have become extremely resourceful and have shown initiative in utilizing the available resources of the province. A typical example of this is the straw and reed panel factory which produces a new type of building board from reeds obtained from the marshes around Lake Manitoba. These panels have never been produced in Canada before. The sunflower processing plant at Altona is a recent innovation to the province and is believed to be the only plant of its kind in the world.

The garment industry is an excellent example of the province's industrial progress. From a small beginning at the turn of the century garment manufacturers in the province have expanded to become the second leading industry in the province. Manufacturers in this field have gained for themselves a fine reputation for distinctive styles and excellent workmanship and Winnipeg is now recognized as one of Canada's leading fashion centres.

Winnipeg is fast becoming a major oil refinery centre. The new $10 million Imperial Oil catalytic refinery saw its first full year of production in 1952. The refinery has a capacity of 10,000 barrels daily. The addition of further refining capacity has already been announced and it is not inconceivable that within the next few years the output of the oil refining industry in Manitoba will reach that of the present leading industry—meat packing.

There are today many well developed and thriving industries which only a few years ago were still in their infancy or non-existent. The history of the manufacturing of electronics and scientific instruments has been one of rapid rise and steady growth. Many of the existing firms in the province are today producing articles which are manufactured nowhere else on the continent. The furniture industry is another industry which has made tremendous strides in recent years. Value of production now totals over $12 million, an increase of over 900 per cent in ten years. All types of furniture are made including baby, chromium, church, hotel, kitchen, office and household.

The production of electrical apparatus and supplies is also relatively new to the province and is an excellent example of the diversity of skills that Manitoba manufacturers have acquired. Value of products now totals over $7.4 million annually. Products range from transformers to washing machines to lighting fixtures. One of the new firms produces transformers to serve our rural electrification program.

The outstanding recent developments in industry together with the improvements in agriculture and the greater utilization of natural resources all predict a prosperous future for the province of Manitoba.

Shown here is the Imperial Oil Limited refinery at Winnipeg, Manitoba. With a capacity of 12,000 bbls. of crude oil per day, this refinery had the first fluid catalytic cracking unit in Western Canada, and is one of many new developments based on the rapid expansion of Alberta's oil fields. Pipe lines carry Alberta oil as far east as Lake Superior, and on extension to Sarnia, Ontario, will be completed in 1953.

ON PRODUCTION

IN RECENT years Ontario has shared to a substantial degree in the record industrial development reported throughout all of Canada. Expanding its manufacturing industries at an unprecedented rate Ontario now contributes about one-half of the total for all of Canada in value of goods produced, investment in new plants and equipment and in employment and payrolls. Further industrialization and even greater growth is the outlook for the future.

In recent months new peaks have been recorded in Ontario's economic development. It is estimated that during 1952 Ontario's 13,500 manufacturing industries produced goods worth 8.6 billions of dollars, an all-time record. With a population of 4,766,000 Ontario in August 1952 reported the greatest labour force in its history—1,926,000 working in civilian employment, 36 per cent being employed in manufacturing. Capital expenditures by manufacturing industries in new construction and equipment reached a peak of 507 millions of dollars during 1952—54 per cent of the total for all of Canada.

Resources Plus Power and Transportation

Ontario is fortunately situated for industrial growth. The Province has great natural resources in nickel, gold, iron-ore and other minerals needed by industry. For many years electric power has been

OUR NEW HOME — To Serve You Better

In this Canada of 1952 progress and growth know no boundaries. This dynamic activity expressed in the growth of cities and the development of our vast natural resources spreads out into surrounding communities, towns, villages and farms from coast to coast. To keep pace with this development, the demands for nickel, nickel alloys, stainless steels and aluminum have increased amazingly. Producers of these vital products are taking every step to increase output to meet this demand.

As distributors of these Stainless Alloys and Aluminum we, too, have expanded our facilities. From our new warehouse advantageously located on Fleet Street, Toronto, we have increased warehouse space, improved handling facilities and set up ideal office conditions for expediting orders. Added accommodation improves our ability to serve our customers with the information and assistance required to get the most value from all products amongst these modern metals.

available to manufacturers at low rates and new sources of power are being developed to safeguard future demands. Modern improved highways and a network of waterways provide easy access to raw materials and finished products. Vast domestic and export markets are near at hand and the largest pool of skilled workmen in Canada man Ontario's industries.

Looking to the future Ontario has much to gain from the development of the great St. Lawrence Seaway. Ontario has a fresh water shoreline of 2,362 miles and borders on four of the five Great Lakes. The Seaway will open the industrial midlands of Ontario to direct shipment of raw materials from other lands and it will also assist Ontario industries through lower freight charges, to exploit new export markets all over the world.

New sources of fuel and power will soon be at hand to turn the wheels of Ontario industries. The Seaway will yield electrical energy in excess of the demand for many years to come and the expected import of natural gas by pipeline from the oil fields of western Canada will feed

Ontario factories annually with 70 billion cubic feet of low cost fuel.

Workshop of the Nation

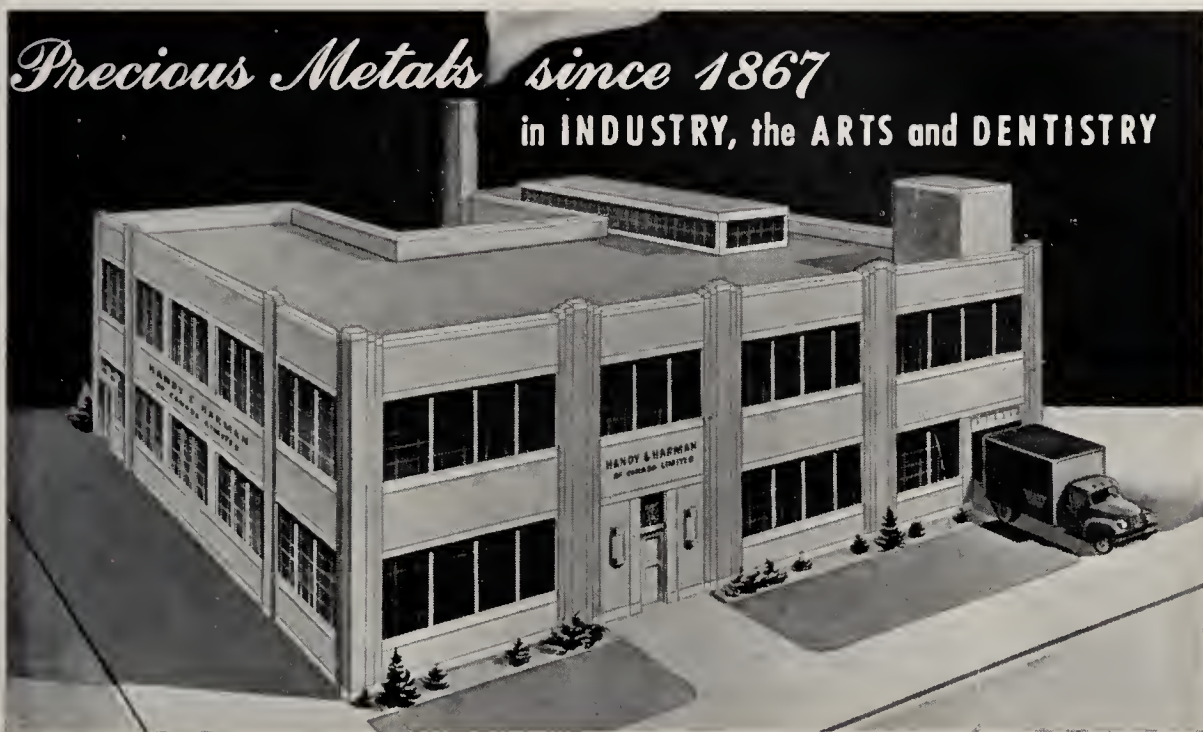

When other provinces in Canada prosper, Ontario prospers. All the huge new projects underway in other parts of Canada mean increased output for Ontario's factories. As the workshop of the nation, Ontario is supplying the steel, heavy machinery, electrical goods and mechanical equipment required for the oil wells of Alberta, the aluminum plants of British Columbia, the iron ore mines of Labrador and so on. In Canada's dynamic growth Ontario plays a strategic role.

All these factors added to Ontario's tradition of a stable economy and a balanced budget constitute an attraction which has drawn over 500 new industries to Ontario since 1945.

Ontario's industrial role of the future depends upon a further steady advance from the role of a supplier of raw materials to that of a producer of finished manufactured goods to be sold on world markets. Industries which will round out Ontario's manufacturing diversification can find in Ontario a healthy environment for growth and prosperity.

Typical of the tremendous expansion in "Chemical Valley" at Sarnia, Ontario, is this glycol plant of Daw Chemical of Canada, Limited. Based on petroleum shipped by pipeline and lake tanker from Alberta, many plants for the treatment of oil and its by-products have recently built or expanded their operations in this area.

OF INDUSTRY

THE PROVINCE of Quebec is in these days the scene of some of the most intense activity on Canada's industrial front.

Quebec's economy is based on three great natural resources: forests, water-power and mineral deposits. More than half the total Canadian power supply and newsprint output stems from this Province, as well as more than a third of Canadian pulp and paper output. The products of Quebec mines have more than doubled in value since 1941, and most of the current trail-blazing is in the wake of new ore discoveries.

Against a background of heightened activity in these primary fields, Quebec's manufacturing industries have made rapid strides in the last ten years. Manufactures stand first among the Province's industries in gross value of production, with a grand total of $4.9 billions in 1951, a value which is estimated to have increased to $5.2 billions in 1952.

Between 1939 and 1952, employment in manufacturing industry rose by 94.5 per cent; gross value of production increased, in constant dollars, by 111.7 per cent. Out of a provincial labor force of 1,475,000, about 428,000 are employed in manufacturing plants—32.6 per cent of the total—and their wages exceed $1,000,000,000 annually.

For the second time within five years, The Foxboro Company Limited has added to its manufacturing facilities at Montreal. Thus, Canadian industries are assured a continuing, prompt supply of the finest Canadian-made instruments to meet the increasing need for closer process control.

The new plant began operation last Fall, more than doubling previous capacity. Every facility is available for producing mechanical, electrical, and electronic instruments to indicate, record, or control any process variable. It also includes training facilities where customers can send their men for technical instruction on instrumentation.

Products of The Foxboro Company Limited are available nation-wide through eight conveniently located offices of Peacock Brothers Limited, Ville LaSalle, Montreal, P. Q.

Hydro-electric development, in particular, has created conditions favorable to rapid industrialization, and helps to explain why Quebec has played host, since the war, to 40.9 per cent of all the new manufacturing plants established in Canada.

In 1951, Quebec's estimated total installed power capacity was 6,843,000 h.p., more than half the total installed capacity for all Canada. Although this is by far the largest capacity of any Province, it represents only about 40 per cent of Quebec's present potential. Demand for power continues to climb steadily, and projects for further development now under way are expected to boost capacity by a further 1,374,450 h.p. by 1954.

Mines of World Importance

In the mining field, the large new discoveries and developments in Quebec have made headlines throughout the English-speaking world. The most important are the new deposits of iron ore on the Labrador border and in the Ungava Bay area; of ilmenite, from which iron and titanium are obtained, at Allard Lake; of copper in the Gaspé Peninsula; of copper-zinc ores in the northwestern area, and of pyrites suitable for the extraction of sulphur in the Noranda area.

Quebec now stands second among the Provinces in value of mineral wealth, with production equal to approximately 20 per cent of the total for all Canada. The recent discoveries have more than doubled the value of Quebec's minerals since 1941. In that year the value was $100 millions; in 1951 it was just under $256 millions.

The Province turns out more than one-fourth of the world's supply of aluminum, and 60 per cent of asbestos. It has the greatest concentration of textile mills in Canada, and produces 60 per cent of the nation's clothing. Quebec accounts for a little more than 62 per cent of all the Canadian plants manufacturing boots and shoes. The Province's defence industries are flourishing, and employment in aircraft and shipbuilding plants is high.

The area of industrial activity is constantly widening, and the Province's transportation services are expanding to keep pace. Expenditures on roads increased by $15 millions in 1952 over the previous year. Air traffic, playing an important part in opening up the north, is at new heights. Possessing one of the world's greatest inland waterways, the St. Lawrence River, Quebec looks forward to the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway as a project which is sure to enhance its position as a natural transportation hub.

Functional Design for Efficiency, Economy, Customer Service, Staff Welfare

The requirements for this new structure for W. J. Bush and Co., (Canada) Limited were primarily to provide sufficient space to permit maximum production of the company's products under conditions conducive to efficiency, economy, staff welfare and customer service. Present products include flavouring essences, essential oils and related products for the food, pharmaceutical and associated industries.

The solution to these various demands was found in a straight-forward one-storey building, divided into two definite areas, a lower portion to the front housing analytical and research laboratories, executive and general offices, staff rooms and cafeterias, with the main portion at the rear accommodating warehousing and manufacturing facilities. The perimeter was established by departmental and over-all flow, and the 17' 6" clear height of the main area by apparatus requirements. The building was positioned to the west side of the site to allow for its future expansion.

The whole structure is of fireproof construction, with reinforced concrete foundation floors and frame, block and brick masonry walls, steel sash, flat reinforced concrete slab roof deck, and sprinklers throughout.

Prime importance was attached to the lay-out of various factory areas, and the relationship between their respective locations, in order to achieve an uninterrupted flow of operations in a circular direction from the receipt of raw material to shipment of finished product.

NEW BRUNSWICK

feed expanding economy

NEW BRUNSWICK is one of Canada's Eastern Provinces having the advantage of a fully equipped harbour on the Atlantic Coast that is open to shipping in winter as well as in summer. Direct rail connections from seaboard to the rest of Canada and to United States markets are shorter than from any other such port.

Like Canada as a whole, New Brunswick is reflecting the increased industrial production evident across the country. For many years the economy of the Province has been derived from the basic resources of the forests, the farms and the sea.

Forest Products Leaders

The manufacture of pulp and paper is the largest single industry and is expanding, followed by lumber and other wood-using producers.

Potatoes are the chief agriculture crop and New Brunswick seed is known throughout the world. Mixed farming prevails for the most part otherwise and much seed grain is grown.

The fishing industry, which is undergoing a program of modernization, has multiplied three-fold or more since the war years largely by the use of better methods, and is still growing.

New interest and activity is being focussed on mineral possibilities since starting new discoveries of lead, zinc, and copper deposits and, more recently, tin have been made near Bathurst, N.B. Coal and gypsum are already produced in the Province.

While various manufactured lines have been produced in some quantity over the years, notably ships, stoves, boots and shoes, brushes, biscuits and confectionery, textiles and plumbing and heating supplies, recently a further diversification of industrial development has been taking place which is doing much to broaden the economic base of the Province.

Varied New Manufactures

A new cement plant has come into operation; two plants manufacturing building boards from waste wood products are now operating; a paper bag factory to supply potato growers and other users has been started; a plant for the manufacture of silk stockings is nearing completion; several new fish processing plants are now operating, as well as many smaller industries of different kinds.

The total output of manufactured goods has increased from $66,000,000 in 1939 to an estimated $315,000,000 in 1951. This is a very impressive total even allowing for changes in dollar values.

Maritime Trading Area

An interesting and important development, that of a definite economic and trading area being created, is now taking place. Increased transportation costs are the chief factor behind this new development and New Brunswick is becoming the trading centre for a potential market of two million people on the Canadian Atlantic Coast as a result.

Tailored to your needs!

RAW MATERIALS

Is your industry "on the move"? If it is, you must have taken into consideration a number of basic problems. Foremost, probably, are markets . . . But what about essential materials, power, labour, transport? Sound answers to these and other questions will mean solution of the location problem.

Nova Scotia is the key segment in one of Canada's five major market areas—the Atlantic Provinces. Geographic location puts it within strategic reach of enticing market areas—by land, sea and air.

POWER

Native resources—steel and coal, salt and limestone, products of the sea, agriculture and forestry—are conveniently situated.

High-quality coal mined locally, oil refined locally, and electric power facilities geared to meet the demands of expansion, rule out power problems.

Labour is plentiful, adaptable and stable.

MARKETS

Transcontinental rail lines, a modern highway system, air and ocean services are being supplemented by new, major transport links—the Canso causeway, closing permanently the gap between Industrial Cape Breton and the Nova Scotia mainland, and the new car ferry which will place Nova Scotia goods conveniently in Eastern U. S. markets . . .

Location in Canada's Gateway Province is logical for many types of industry: Nova Scotia is tailored to your needs.

BOOST INDUSTRY

THERE is a natural tendency by many within and outside Canada to measure the Nation's industrial growth in terms such as Kitimat, Leduc and Ungava, in terms of acres of new factories and hundreds of miles of pipelines. The greatness and importance of such staggering developments, no one will belittle. But to measure entirely in those terms is to measure without perspective and to overlook many other sides of the picture.

Nova Scotia is a Province the second smallest in area and fourth smallest in population. Her growth therefore, cannot be measured always in comparative terms.

Growth of Secondary Industry

From 1949 to the end of 1951, upwards of 25 new secondary operations were decided upon or established and a number of existing firms took on significant new lines of production. At least a half-dozen of the new operations are in food and beverage lines, particularly fish processing.

Several other firms are producing goods such as fishing supplies for which there is a strong local demand by primary industries. Others are based on the utilization of raw materials or previously unused by-products of other industries. Among these are a firm producing liquors and liqueurs using apple juice for blending purposes and a branch of a well-known local brick and tile firm producing building materials of foamed slag, formerly a waste product of the steel plant at Sydney.

Noteworthy also are firms in production of electronics equipment, aircraft assemblies, conversion, repair and maintenance, and sizeable fish processing plants.

Each new operation or type of operation mentioned above is an example among types most likely to operate successfully in Nova Scotia.

New operations, however, are only part of the present picture. There are indications that established business is spending more on expansion, modernization and improvement. Probably chief among these was the steel industry which has spent or allocated at least $40-50 million in its current expansion and internal modernization scheme.

Fisheries Progressive

Development in primary fields has been most noticeable in fisheries and mining; in the former it is almost startling.

Probably the farthest reaching trend is the eastward shift of the center of operations of the whole Northwest Atlantic fisheries. This means many things.

Part and parcel of this development are the movement toward use of larger, more efficient vessels and the growth of processing plant and capacity. Steel and wood trawlers and draggers and "long-liners" are the more spectacular types going into service. (The latter type was developed and promoted by the Department of Trade and Industry and its success in this and other Atlantic Provinces has been encouraging.) The following figures give evidence of this almost spectacular trend. From 1946 to 1951 the number of trawlers and draggers registered increased from 11 to 91; at the end of 1952 registrations totalled 131.

The development of processing plants has been primarily in the hands of local fishing interests but the confidence of external investors and operators is reflected in the development of three of the larger plants. Louisbourg Fisheries Limited, a multi-million dollar project, is owned jointly by National Sea Products Ltd. of Halifax and Gorton-Pew Fisheries Ltd., one of the larger Gloucester (Mass.) firms. Booth Fisheries Canadian Co. Ltd.'s three-quarter million dollar plant at Petit de Grat is of United States origin. British Columbia Packers Ltd. has recently taken over a plant at Canso, the anticipated modernization and expansion of which is reported likely to total $1.5 million.

New Minerals of Interest

Growth in the various fields of mineral production has been steady. Nova Scotia now supplies 70 per cent of the barytes and 90 per cent of the gypsum produced in Canada. The salt industry has grown rapidly as new applications are found for it. Coal, of course, continues to be the leading product. Nova Scotia produces approximately one-third of the Canadian total.

It is in the latter field that considerable development is in progress. Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, which owns most Nova Scotia mines, has developed an automatic mining machine, manufactured in one of the Dosco secondary steel plants at Trenton, which is being installed in several pits and this gradual mechanization will add much to the productive capacity.

The most spotlighted event in recent mineral resource development was the 1951 discovery of adjacent beds of salt and limestone in very large volume near Antigonish. In the testing of these deposits, natural gas was discovered and one of the results of these two finds has been to spur considerable interest in exploration throughout other areas of the Province.

Base metals show signs of coming into their own. At Stirling, Cape Breton, Mindamar Metals Corporation has in production a plant of 500 tons daily capacity. Chief product is a gold-silver-lead-zinc-copper concentrate. Other interests are investigating deposits in other areas.

Development of power facilities has been rapid since 1945. In this field the long term development of a "provincial grid" by the N.S. Power Commission and private companies is of major importance.

When complete, it will mean the interconnection of the various systems to allow transfer of power from areas with reserves to those with short supply and hence will help allay seasonal shortages.

Transportation Projects

Four major transportation projects in or connected with Nova Scotia are now in progress: the Strait of Canso Causeway, the Yarmouth-Bar Harbour (Maine) Ferry, the North Sydney-Port aux Basques (Nfld.) Ferry and the Halifax-Dartmouth Bridge. These in the long run may prove more vital to the economic life of the Province than any development mentioned above.

The Canso Causeway which rivals any project of similar nature in the world, will provide permanent connection of Cape Breton Island with the Nova Scotia mainland, and immediate benefit should be felt by the steel, coal and fisheries industries in the area. Further, businessmen are showing interest in the Port Hawkesbury-Mulgrave area, where the causeway will be situated, as a potentially advantageous industrial location.

The Yarmouth-Bar Harbour Ferry, designed to carry both passenger cars and large transports, will facilitate trade between the Province and the eastern United States. In this respect it will be of particular benefit to fish processing and other industries marketing perishable goods. Year-round service will be provided, whereas present facilities operate during summer months only.

The Newfoundland ferry will represent a considerable improvement over existing links. The bridge spanning Halifax Harbour will probably constitute a new boost to business in the largest metropolitan area in the Maritimes.

Serving a Nation's Industry

Symbolic of Canadian Liquid Air operations are these two L. A. plants at Montreal. At the right, the big modern electrode plant, and at the left (in the distance) the large new oxygen plant which replaces the company's first oxygen plant in Canada (built in 1912). Also at Montreal are other L.A. plants for manufacturing acetylene, medical gases and L.A. welding and cutting apparatus.

CANADIAN LIQUID AIR COMPANY has been identified with Canada's industrial scene for over 40 years.

A major supplier to industry of industrial gases, oxy-acetylene and electric arc welding equipment and supplies, Liquid Air operates a manufacturing and distribution network of 21 plants, branch offices, and warehouses from Newfoundland to Victoria, B.C.

These facilities have been expanded in recent years by enlarging existing plants and erecting new ones at such places as Quebec City, Montreal, Hamilton, Port Arthur; and the setting up of warehouses in Saskatoon, Sarnia and Waterloo.

Canadian Liquid Air operations will eventually be extended to the fabulous Aluminum project at Kitimat, British Columbia, where a Liquid Air plant is scheduled to be erected this year.

Another important phase of the company's business is the manufacturing of complete liquefaction plants, process equipment, pressure vessels, exchangers, condensers, etc. This is carried out in the Construction and Machine Shops at Montreal, backed by a staff of highly qualified designers and engineers. Inquiries regarding such equipment should be addressed to: Engineering and Construction Division, 1111 Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal, Que.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

ECONOMICALLY Prince Edward Island depends almost entirely for its livelihood on the two basic industries of farming and fishing, but recent surveys indicate that the province is potentially capable of greater productivity in other spheres.

Several secondary industries, notably canning of fish and farm foods, are already flourishing in urban centres and smaller villages throughout the province. It is felt the Island offers great opportunities for the development of light industries. One example of the successful operation of a profitable branch plant, profitable both from the standpoint of the firm and of the farmers of our Island, is a cucumber pickling plant in Charlottetown.

Irish Moss is another industry which was non-existent in Prince Edward Island until World War II forced buyers, who normally depended on Europe for their supplies, to seek new markets. An excellent type of moss was found on the shores of the Island and the gathering and sorting of it has continued ever since to be a profitable sideline for many fishermen and their families. New methods of harvesting Irish Moss are now being tried.

There does not appear to be any hope of the Island ever becoming a centre where heavy industry could be located. It is too far from the source of raw materials and the question of transportation is such that it might discourage any move in that direction.

There are machine shops, foundries and woodworking plants in the province which, though not large enough for big contracts, could quite easily handle sub-contracts.

Room for New Industries

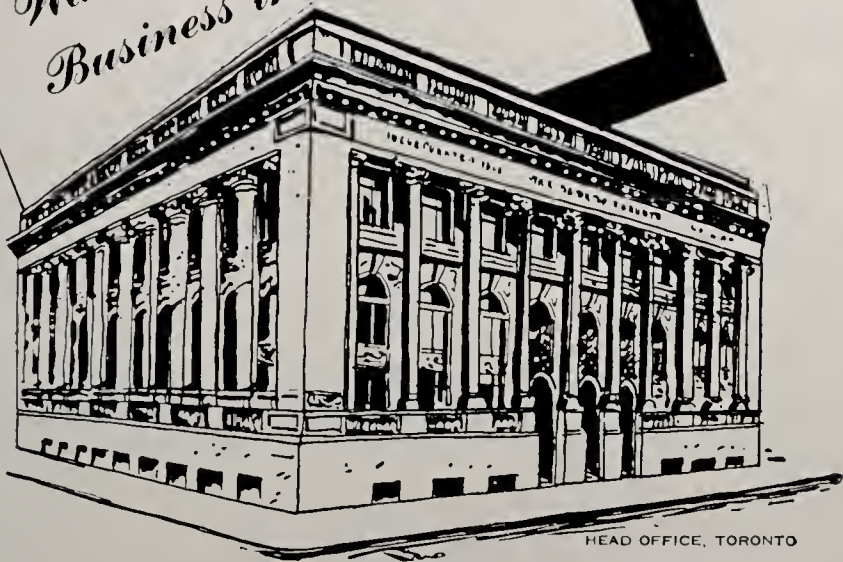

In recent years, a progressive program of rural electrification has shot power lines into the farming communities and villages in many parts of the province. There are no labor-management problems in Prince Edward Island. The Island has a low rate of taxation. Transportation-wise, it is served by water, rail and air. All these factors add up to the fact that we have room for new industries for manufacturing and processing plants.

Many latent possibilities for improving the economic life of the province have been investigated since the creating a few years ago of a new department of government known as the Department of Industry and Natural Resources. A forestry division was set up by the department and in the past three years Prince Edward Island has undertaken its first large scale incursion into the pulpwood business.

Possibly the most outstanding development in recent years has been the introduction of draggers in the fishing picture of Prince Edward Island. These boats have resulted in a big boost in fish production. To keep abreast with this development a fishmeal and fresh fish filleting plant was started and now is proving a successful venture.

New methods of handling farm foods such as a new way of packaging and wrapping cheese have tended to improve the marketed value of agricultural products in the province.

A Bold and Energetic Program

IN A BOLD and energetic program of economic development, Canada's newest province of Newfoundland has caught the industrial spotlight over the past two years. The development program sponsored by the Department of Economic Development of the Newfoundland Government aimed at diversifying the economy of the province and providing jobs for its population is largely an effective combination of European skill and know-how with Canadian capital.

At the outset the Department of Economic Development built three major plants out of surplus government funds. The first a birch veneer, plywood, and flooring plant at Donovans, six miles from St. John's, is in production. This $2,000,000 plant has been leased for fifteen years to a local company, Newfoundland Hardwoods Limited.

The second government-built plant was the $4,000,000 plant of North Star Cement Co. Ltd. at Humbermouth on the west coast of the island, which is producing Portland cement and agricultural limestone. The machinery for this plant was supplied by the German firm of Miag, Braunschweig. This plant was operated briefly by a Crown Corporation until its sale to Canadian Machinery and Industry Construction Ltd.

The third government-built plant is the Atlantic Gypsum Co. Ltd. operation at Humbermouth. This $3,000,000 plant, for which the machinery was supplied by the German firm of Benno-Schilde, is in production, turning out gypsum plasterboard and plaster lath.

In addition to these straight government-built plants, the Department of Economic Development has been assisting firms in setting up plants by direct government loans. This has applied particularly to European firms which have machinery, skill and know-how, but no dollars.

New Industries Born

Under this arrangement there has been set up at Octagon Lake, nine miles from St. John's a $5,000,000 industrial machinery plant by Canadian Machinery and Industry Construction Ltd. A $600,000 leather tannery is in production by Newfoundland Tanneries (Wm. Dorn) Ltd. at Carbonear, 72 miles from St. John's. A $4,000,000 cotton textile plant of United Cotton Mills Ltd. is due to start making up garments in St. John's early in 1953. A $1,000,000 chip-board plant of Atlantic Hardboard Industries Ltd. is under construction at Donovans. A $600,000 storage battery plant of Hanning Electric Co. Ltd. is under construction at Topsail, 12 miles from St. John's. At Holyrood, 30 miles from St. John's, Superior Rubber Co. Ltd. has under construction a $2,000,000 rubber plant for turning out industrial rubber products and rubber footwear.

In addition to these plants Atlantic Films And Electronics Ltd. has gone into production in St. John's with the only motion picture film company producing east of Montreal.

Already a number of the largest national manufacturers have set up large distribution facilities in the Province to serve this area. It is logical to assume that this is a step towards increased manufacturing and, as a matter of fact, industrial development is now taking place on the strength of this growing regional trade.

Many other products now manufactured at some distance from the Maritime area and used in quantity here can probably now be profitably produced within this area to serve this attractive market.

A program for expansion of the development of available power resources is being carried out and will add to the opportunities for further industrial development. A hydro development on the Tobique River is well advanced. Distances within the trading area are relatively short and transportation facilities cover the territory with regular service; the largest Canadian and American markets are within 24 hours by rail or road. Continuous shipping facilities enhance import and export development. Natural resources are abundant and relatively unexplored; opportunities for industrial expansion are good.

A number of European firms have entered into agreements with the Newfoundland Government to set up plants in Newfoundland. Included in this group are an optical company, a fine leather goods industry, a marine oil refining and hardening plant, a sheet metal plant, a glove plant, a glue plant, etc. etc.

While the Newfoundland Government has been engaged in promoting new type industries for the province, it has also been actively aiding the development and expansion of the province's basic industry, the fisheries. It has backed loans running into several million more dollars for the building of new fresh frozen fish plants and for the purchase of draggers for year round fishing on the Grand Banks.

In all the Newfoundland Government has helped in the setting up or is actively developing a total of twenty-five new plants under its development program. At the outset the funds came out of the $32,000,000 — pre-Confederation surplus. But a further $10,000,000 was secured through a government bond issue to be used mainly for industrial development.

In addition to the work done through the Department of Economic Development, the Government has entered into a partnership with Canadian and United States financial interests in the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation Limited. This Crown Corporation, in which the Newfoundland government put $900,000 and the private interests $100,000, holds great tracts of mineral-rich territory in Newfoundland and Labrador for the purpose of development. It has entered into concession agreements with a dozen or more major U.S., Canadian and British mining companies, some of which are actively at work in the province, prospecting and drilling.

At the same time the Newfoundland Government is currently negotiating with a group of major British companies, headed by N. Rothschild & Son on a major development program designed especially to provide for the full development of Labrador, whose mineral resources have only been scratched by the great iron ore development by the Iron Ore Company of Canada.

Prospects

STIR THE IMAGINATION

Yukon and Northwest Territories

THE land and fresh water area of the Yukon Territory is a little over 200,000 square miles, and that of the Northwest Territories is in excess of 1,300,000 square miles. Together, these two territories comprise just about 40 per cent of the country's total area.

Since the Canadian Shield and the Cordilleras are the two great metal-bearing regions of the North American continent, and the Central Plains are a great oil-bearing region, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon are one of the great potentially rich mineral areas of the world. However, their remoteness and to some extent the rigorous nature of the climate have deferred their development.

The current mineral developments of the Yukon are centred on gold, silver, lead and zinc. The production of gold in the Yukon in 1952 was valued at $2,700,000, silver at $3,300,000, lead at $2,950,000, and zinc at $1,900,000.

In the Northwest Territories the current mining activity is limited to uranium at Great Bear Lake and gold in the vicinity of Yellowknife on Great Slave Lake. Production figures for uranium are not available, but the production of gold in the Northwest Territories rose from $1,800,000 in 1939 to $8,400,000 in 1952. The present production of petroleum in the Northwest Territories comes from Norman Wells and is limited to markets solely within the Territories.

Turning to future prospects, many interesting deposits are being explored in the Yukon. One of the most promising is a nickel-copper discovery at Kluane Lake close to the Alaska Highway. In addition, investigations are now being undertaken by a Canadian company into the possibility of developing a large volume of hydro-electric power from the headwaters of the Yukon and certain of its tributaries. If this development should materialize it would bring a tremendous increase in economic activity to the Yukon and northern British Columbia.

In the Northwest Territories the most interesting prospects lie in base metals. For example, a large number of claims have been staked in a highly promising lead-zinc deposit at Pine Point on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, and this may become one of the biggest lead-zinc mines on the North American continent. Other interesting prospects are nickel at Ferguson Lake and Rankin Inlet in Keewatin District, and base metals at several points both to the north and to the south of the East Arm of Great Slave Lake.

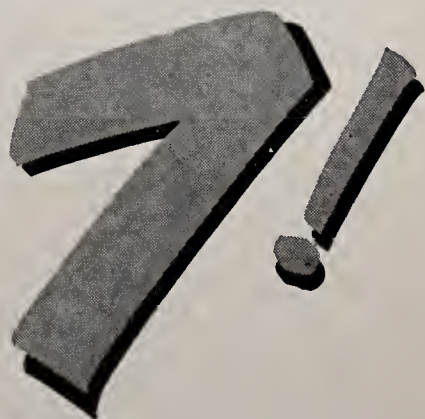

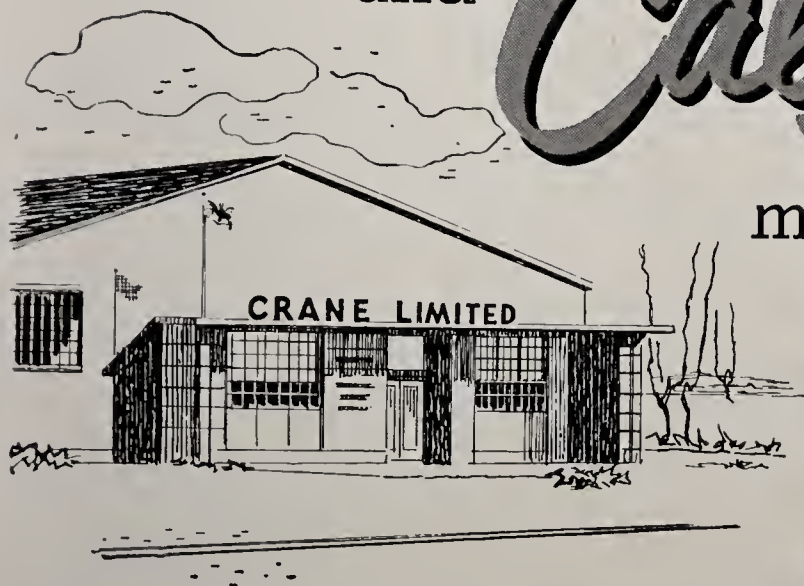

During the past 18 months the petroleum exploration which had moved northwards in Alberta has surged over the boundary into the Northwest Territories. Petroleum and natural gas exploration permits granted or applied for in the Northwest Territories since the fall of 1951 now cover an area of 35,000,000 acres.

Construction at Calgary of Crane's 7th Canadian plant marks one of 1953's most important developments, both in the continuing industrial advance of Western Canada and in the company's nation-wide expansion programme.

The new plant is a modern one-storey building with the most up-to-date manufacturing equipment. It occupies over 50,000 square feet of floor space which provides for present needs and allows for future expansion. It is designed primarily for the manufacture of iron, brass and steel valves and fittings; and fabricated pipe. Facilities are also available for special castings in iron or brass. Melting furnaces of the latest design use natural gas to provide molten metals for the foundry processes.

With the completion of this plant, Alberta joins British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec in the manufacture of Crane products which are distributed through branches, wholesalers, and plumbing and heating contractors located from coast to coast across Canada.

FIBERGLAS PLANT

at Guelph, Ontario

The new plant at Guelph stands as further evidence of the rapid growth of Fiberglas Canada Limited to the leading ranks of Canadian industry. From this plant are coming the millions of miles of Fiberglas* yarns that are revolutionizing standards in most other industries. Yarns for draperies, for electrical tapes and cords are being made of Fiberglas. Wrapping for underground pipes and reinforcement for plastics and paper are fields in which Fiberglas stands in a class of its own.

"I see they specified Fenestra windows"

Beauty—Durability—Efficiency . . . that is the threefold reason why Fenestra Steel Windows are so popular with Canada's architects, builders and owners. Slender lines enhance the streamlined beauty of modern building design, and also admit more daylight per square foot of window. Only steel makes possible welded, air-tight frame and corner joints, mitred and smooth-finished, for lifetime strength and rigidity. Fenestra Steel Windows are precision-engineered, free forever from warping, twisting or swelling. And, so important to all concerned, first cost and maintenance cost are both low. Look into the advantages of Fenestra Steel Windows before you specify. May we mail you our complete catalogue?

(CANADA) LTD.

Royal Bank Building, Toronto • EM. 3-9033

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association— How It Serves Industry

OBJECTS

The objects of the Association are to promote Canadian industries and to further the interests of Canadian manufacturers and exporters, and to render such services and assistance to the members of the Association and to manufacturers and exporters generally, as the Association shall deem advisable from time to time.

SERVICES

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT

Study and analysis of economic conditions and trends in domestic and foreign trade; information re articles made in Canada; sources of supply of manufactured products and raw materials; commercial statistics and trade information; defence purchasing; priorities and controls; problems of product design; scientific and industrial research; assistance to new industries; export and foreign exchange matters generally; information re agencies and export connections; translations of foreign correspondence; commercial reports of overseas firms.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Carries on economic research, studies public relations programs of companies and organizations, publishes monthly "Industry" which contains items pertaining to the Canadian economic system, and acts as liaison with secondary schools and universities in regard to educational problems.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

Studies and advises on relations between employees and employers including questions respecting Hours of Work, Wages, Vacations with Pay, Employees' Benefit Schemes (pensions, insurance, profit-sharing, etc.), Workmen's Compensation, Unemployment Insurance, Old Age Pensions, Conciliation of Industrial Disputes, Collective Bargaining, and Factory Legislation; and acts as liaison with the I.L.O.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

Studies insurance legislation, represents the interests of members as holders of insurance in connection with the work of the Association of Superintendents of Insurance, gives confidential information on the standing of insurance companies and expert advice on all classes of industrial insurance, and co-operative with other organizations in fire prevention, highway accident prevention and insurance matters in general.

LEGAL DEPARTMENT

Maintains a watching brief on all Canadian legislation, receives copies of all Bills introduced in Federal and Provincial legislatures, studies the measures proposed, and assists the Legislation Committee in deciding and carrying out the policies of the Association. Deals with problems arising under Dominion (Income and Excess Profits Tax), Provincial and Municipal tax measures, and advises generally on the law and regulations dealing with such matters as patents, trade marks, copyright, combines, food and drugs, companies, conditional sales, and unfair trade practices.

PUBLISHING DEPARTMENT

The following publications are supplied to all members of the Association:

- (a) "Industrial Canada" the official organ of the Association, which contains information compiled by the various Departments; details concerning industrial development in Canada; and business and government news of interest to industry generally.
- (b) The Canadian Trade Index—This book contains a list of all the principal manufacturers in Canada, and a classified directory of the products they make. It is distributed abroad through Government Trade Commissioners, Export Organizations and other agencies.

TARIFF DEPARTMENT

Interpretation of Canadian Customs Tariff; information in regard to tariffs and other customs regulations of all countries; questions of value for duty; assistance in customs drawback claims and refunds; advice in regard to customs invoices and other customs documents; preparation of cases for the Tariff Board; assistance in the matter of needed tariff changes; advice on sales and excise tax problems. Supplies information on export permits and import licensing requirements.

THE TRADE SECTIONS DEPARTMENT

Supplies a secretarial and organizing service to any group of manufacturers who may desire to organize along lines of production and for the purpose of dealing with common problems incidental to any trade.

TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT

Deals with and watches developments in all matters affecting Transportation by Air, Highway, Inland Water, Ocean, Rail, Telegraph or Telephone. Acts for or advises members respecting Claims, Classifications, Contracts, Documents, Legislation, Rates, Regulations, Rules or Services pertaining to the transportation of Communications, Goods, Mail or Passengers.

MEMBERSHIP DEPARTMENT

The Membership Department is set up for the purpose of co-ordinating the efforts of Divisional and Branch Managers to build up the membership of the Association in co-operation with their Membership Committees, and to arrange Membership campaigns wherever and whenever the occasion demands, according to current conditions in various sections of the Dominion.

FEES

The Association is maintained by the fees paid by members. The fee in each case is determined by the number of employees. For further information please communicate with the Head Office—

GUIDE to CLASSIFIED INDEX

★ THE METHOD OF INDEXING the material on the succeeding pages is that by which the most important word in headings is generally placed first. The arrangement then proceeds in the proper alphabetical order. In the majority of cases it will be found that the noun or main name comes first, i.e.—Furniture, bedroom; Hardware, builders; Leather, boot and shoe upper, etc. This allows the grouping of all similar articles close together. In other cases, where the inversion seems unnatural, the headings have been listed as they run—air appliances; fire escapes, etc. If any difficulty is experienced in locating desired headings or articles, users of the book should try both forms of listing. This will enable the heading to be found if it appears in the book at all.

In all cases we have endeavored to use the names most commonly known. It is possible that we have listed some products and materials under names that differ from those that our subscribers use. Synonyms will therefore be useful to bear in mind.

Cross references have been supplied where two or more names are commonly used to describe the same article.

Street addresses of the firms listed in the classified section are provided where necessary in the alphabetical list of names (on green sheets) immediately preceding this Classified Section.

Attention is also called to the French Index of articles, which is placed immediately after the Produce Section (Part 4) on green paper. In limited editions a Spanish Index or a Portuguese Index appears instead of the French Index.

Firms before whose name a star appears have intimated that they are engaged or seriously interested in Export Trade.

We shall be glad to have the opportunity of giving additional information to any manufacturer or user of the Canadian Trade Index. No charge is made for this service.
